Introduction

This guidance was produced in consultation with LSCB partner agencies, including Cambridgeshire Constabulary.

Its purpose is to prioritise the safety of children and young people at the planning and operational stages of events in Cambridgeshire and it is intended to support and advise the people responsible for managing events. We aim to encourage the provision of a safe environment in which children and young people can learn to socialise and enjoy the diverse range of cultural, leisure and entertainment facilities Cambridgeshire has to offer. We believe that by prioritising the safety of children and taking a proactive, preventive approach towards harm, everyone may have a safe and enjoyable experience enabling our city to retain its excellent reputation for safe and exciting events.

Background

This guidance has been developed to provide a framework for events managers and service providers, to ensure that events operate in a consistent manner that promotes the safety of children and young people living in, or visiting Cambridgeshire. This guidance supports licensees to comply with The Licensing Act 2003, under which they have a legal responsibility to protect children from physical, psychological and moral harm.

This does not replace existing guidance and should be used in conjunction with other relevant guidance, to ensure delivery of best practice in relation to safeguarding children at events.

Individual organisations should already have their own child protection policies and procedures in place; this guidance does not replace those and must be used in conjunction with existing policies and procedures.

The term 'children' denotes all children and young people under the age of 18 years.

Potential Risks to children

Section 182 of The Licensing Act 2003 states that “The protection of children from harm includes the protection of children from moral, psychological and physical harm, and this would include the protection of children from too early an exposure to strong language and sexual expletives, for example, in the context of film exhibitions, or where adult entertainment is provided.”

The risks to children will vary depending upon the style and character of the Event, the audience profile, the type of activities taking place, the age of the children and whether or not they are accompanied and supervised by a responsible adult.

Potential risks include:

- children being vulnerable to sexual or criminal perpetrators;
- consumption of alcohol;
- children witnessing or being involved in substance misuse;
- anti-social behaviour;
- accidental harm;
- bullying;
- children who are unaccompanied/unsupervised;
- risks in relation to children involved in employment, entertainment or performance;
- children witnessing or being involved with inappropriate or dangerous adult behaviour.

Audience

The guidance is designed for the use of the Police, Cambridgeshire County Council (CCC), and District Council employees who are involved in the management of licensed events and for their partner agencies, contractors and volunteers. It may also be used by event managers involved in the provision of unlicensed or private events, or at high capacity venues, if the type of entertainment or activities fit into the event profiles identified in the risk assessment tool.

Contractors

'Partner Providers' must be obliged by the terms of their contract to act in accordance with this guidance and Event Managers must monitor compliance.

Risk Management for the protection of children from harm

In order to demonstrate a sense of legal and social responsibility towards safeguarding children and young people and in line with existing legislation, policy and guidance, a children's risk assessment must be undertaken prior to each event. There is a risk assessment tool attached to this guidance at Appendix 1 to assist the process of identifying potential risks to children and to decide the necessary type of protective control measures to be operated. This tool must be used in conjunction with existing health and safety and other relevant risk assessment procedures. It should be noted that children must be protected from potential harm during their involvement in entertainment or employment under current legislation. It is a statutory requirement that the necessary permits/licences are obtained from the Council prior to a child being employed or involved in the provision of performance or entertainment at an event. As this is a mandatory duty this is not included as an optional safeguarding measure in the risk assessment tool.

Whilst the issue of safeguarding children and young people is paramount, it should be noted that effective risk management processes also contribute to the promotion of Cambridgeshire's reputation as a place providing safe, attractive, family-friendly leisure and entertainment facilities for residents and visitors.

Children who are unaccompanied, lost or unsupervised

Circumstances may arise in which children, who are without the supervision of an accompanying adult, must be temporarily supervised by event staff. In such circumstances, the protocol should be followed and written records should be retained to account for all actions taken to reunite the child with the responsible adult or to otherwise safeguard the child/young person.

Vetting individuals

Staff assigned to the role of 'Children's Safeguarding Coordinator' must be adequately trained and have the necessary expertise to undertake this role. If event staff have responsibilities that bring them into private/one to one contact with children or if they have supervisory responsibilities in relation to children's activities a DBS certificate is required.

DBS checks, or other vetting procedures such as written and authenticated references, may be required for individuals if, for example, they are involved in the provision of children's tuition, sport activities, or children's entertainment, or in compliance with the Operating Licence Agreements issued by a Council.

Information and welfare in relation to children

Events should be planned and operated in compliance with the recommendations of the Children's Safeguarding Coordinator who should undertake a written risk assessment, the outcome of which should be incorporated into the event manual, clearly setting out what risk management systems and procedures are in place and lines of accountability. The event manual should state the contact details of the Safeguarding Coordinator and clarify lines of responsibility for safeguarding at the planning and operational stages of the event. To assist the Safeguarding Coordinator to establish clear procedures and communication pathways, a sample model of care is attached to this guidance at Appendix 5. This safeguarding infrastructure may be adapted for smaller events and roles may be duplicated if appropriate.

If the children's risk assessment identifies the event as 'amber' or 'red', the event should be attended by staff designated to act as the 'Children's Safeguarder'. This role may be assigned to staff who have additional functions, such as first aid staff, stewards, youth workers or ambassadors. All staff at events must be informed of the identity and location of the Children's Safeguarders and know who the Safeguarding Coordinator is, so that they are easily able to contact that person should a safeguarding issue arise.

The designated Children's Safeguarding Coordinator is a specialist welfare role and staff assigned to this role must be trained in the principles of risk assessment and be competent in carrying out that task.

It is recommended that information should be made available to the public about child safeguarding issues including: flyers/signage to remind adults of their responsibilities in relation to children; responsible drinking, advice leaflets on sexual health, substance misuse or other health issues (e.g. healthy eating advice; counselling services).

Local outreach services should be promoted and information materials be provided by local agencies such as the Safeguarding Children Board, Young People's Substance Misuse Services, and Trading Standards. Information should also be provided (particularly for young people who are unaccompanied), such as public transport timetables, maps highlighting meeting points and designated family areas, the lost children/first aid facility and the location/contact number of the staff assigned to the role of Children's Safeguarder or Coordinator.

The role of the Children's Safeguarding Co-ordinator at Events

The individual assigned to act as Children's Safeguarding Co-ordinator must be at event management level, be adequately trained in the principles of risk assessment and be competent in carrying out that task.

The Children's Safeguarding Coordinator is a strategic role and this person should have an overview of the risk management systems and procedures in place for the protection of children from harm. The Co-ordinator acts as a single point of contact for issues relating to children's welfare and has responsibility for the following duties:

- Complete (or assist with) the children's risk assessment prior to the event and keep a written record of the risk assessment
- Ensure that adequate systems are in place to minimize risks identified in the assessment
- Ensure an audit trail is maintained in relation to incidents involving lost children or unaccompanied vulnerable young people
- Ensure signage is securely and prominently displayed
- Ensure all staff/stewards/enforcement officers/relevant partners involved with the planning/operation of the event are briefed so that they are aware of potential risk and understand the safeguarding risk management procedures in place.
- Provide staff with contact details for the Children's Co ordinator and Lead Safeguarder(s) assigned to the event including radio/telephone contact.
- Ensure that the necessary permits/licences have been obtained for children involved in performance/entertainment or who are employed at an event²
- Ensure that the relevant events staff (promoters/presenters) are briefed so that age appropriate, family friendly language and material is used and that communications are responsible and do not encourage inappropriate or irresponsible behaviour.

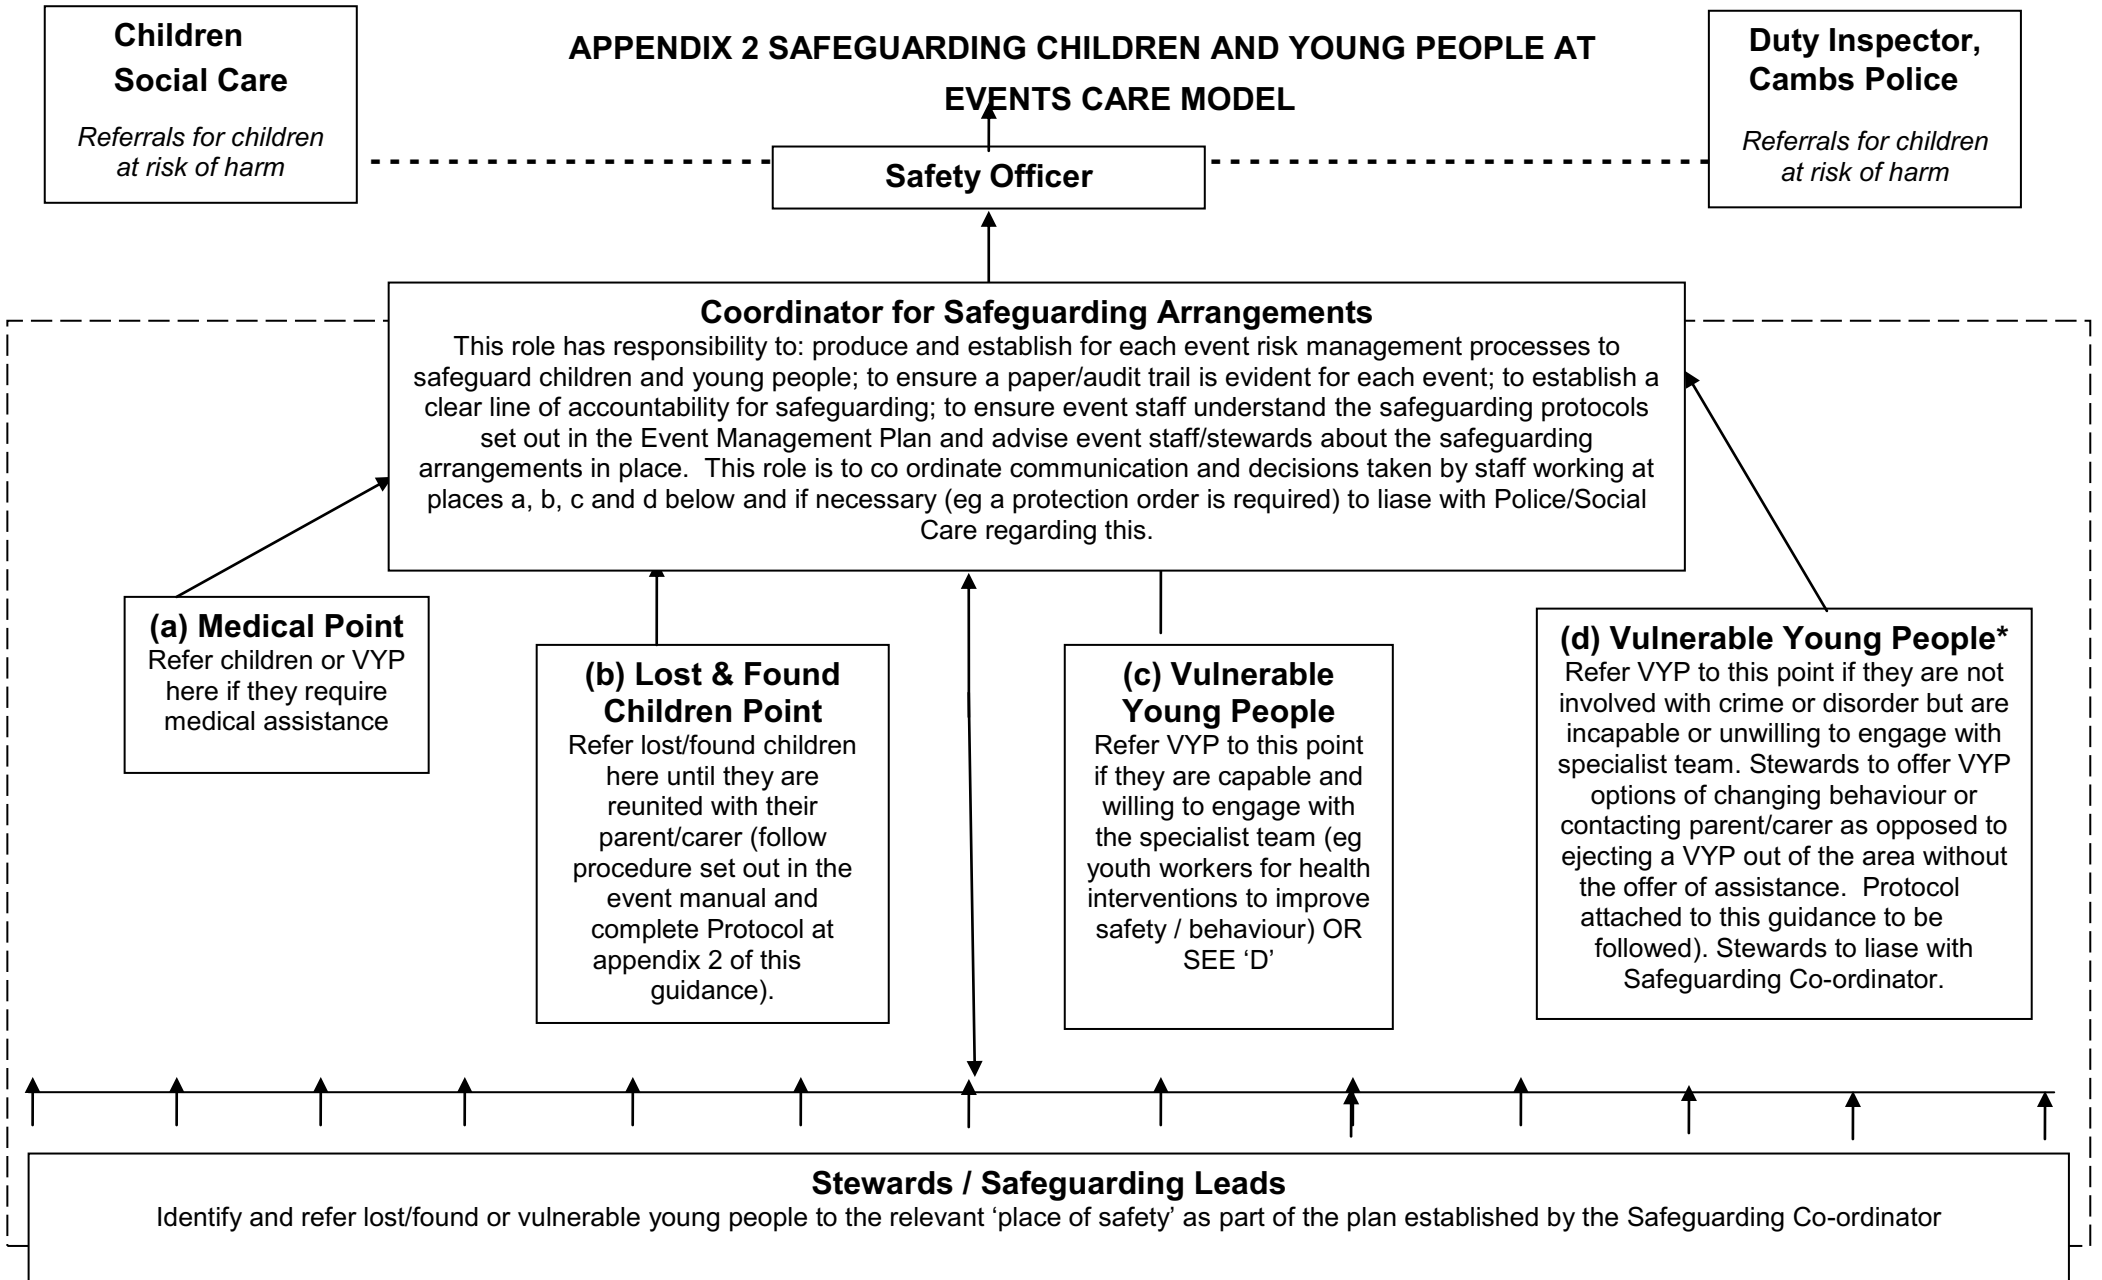

The role of the Children's Safeguarding Lead(s)

Staff assigned to this role must be suitably trained and adequately briefed to be vigilant and monitor the event, in order to assist the Co-ordinator by identifying safeguarding issues at an operational level and communicate issues to the Safeguarding Coordinator. This role may be assigned to events staff who have additional functions, such as first aid staff, or stewards.

Staff with 1:1 contact or supervisory responsibilities for children must be suitably vetted.

Vetting should be undertaken by obtaining written, authenticated references, obtaining DBS clearance (at enhanced level if their duties bring them into unsupervised one to one contact with children or if they have supervisory responsibilities in relation to children). Vetting should be undertaken if, for example, staff are involved in the provision of children's tuition, sport activities, some types of children's entertainment, or if this is a contractual condition of the Operating Licence Agreements.

APPENDIX 4: RISK ASSESSMENT TOOL SAFEGUARDING CHILDREN AT EVENTS

Risk Assessment Tool

The risk assessment process provides event managers with a structured approach towards safeguarding children and young people at events. When undertaking the risk assessment, consideration should be given to: the audience profile + hazards/risks identified + the likelihood of the risk occurring + the consequences of the risk and this should determine the level of safeguarding measures that are necessary to make the event safe and family friendly. A written risk management plan raises awareness of potential safeguarding issues, provides event managers with a clear line of accountability for safeguarding children and enables them to demonstrate due diligence in relation to the protection of children from harm (under the Licensing Act 2003, where applicable). All events should have a Children's Safeguarding Co-ordinator who has a strategic responsibility for establishing risk management systems and audit processes in relation to children and young people. All events involving persons under the age of 18 years should include a written children and young people's risk assessment in the EVENT MANUAL

This tool is to assist staff to minimize potential safeguarding risks to children and young people and should be used in conjunction with existing health and safety risk assessment procedures. It includes an example of risk management systems for different types of events, however these examples are not exhaustive and should be used only as a guide. A blank template is included to assist the event manager/ Children's Safeguarding Co-ordinator to complete their own children's risk assessment for individual events.

The following process categorises events into three types, based on the anticipated audience profile:

- Green indicates an adult-orientated event that is not designed to attract children. The audience profile would predominantly be adults with a limited number of accompanied children, if any, attending. It is recommended that events of this type should have, as a minimum, the type of basic safeguarding measures set out below.
 - Amber is an event that is marketed to attract a mixed audience, including families and unaccompanied children. It is recommended that this type of event should have safeguarding measures that are enhanced by the function of specialist child welfare staff ('Children's Safeguarding Leads'²).
 - Red events are designed to attract children and families and may attract unaccompanied children. They may involve the provision of children's entertainment, tuition, or activities involving one to one unsupervised contact with staff/providers, or activities involving other supervisory duties. It is recommended that this type of event should have an enhanced level of safeguarding measures including the assignment of Children's Safeguarders and vetting procedures for some individuals, eg enhanced CRB checks; obtaining and authenticating written references.
